Louie the Lightning Bug's Safety Rangers is a free program for children four to 12 years old. In order to participate, children must be enrolled by a parent or guardian. Safety Rangers receive educational newsletters, school materials and other fun materials which constantly remind them and their parents to "Play It Safe Around Electricity."

Spreading the word about electrical safety is fun, and enrollment is easy. Parents have two options. One is to simply fill out a copy of the form on the back of this brochure and mail it to the return address on the form. The second is to register online at PECO's educational web site, The Electric Universe. The web address is:

www.peco.electricuniverse.com.
